Academy of St. Cecilia,

For Young Ladies,
Conducted by Sisters of the Order of St. Dominic.

FOUNDED IN 1860.

This Institution stands upon an eminence, north of the city limits of Nashville, overlooking the valley of the Cumberland river. For healthfulness it is unequalled by any institution in the South. Sickness is almost unknown. Chalybeate water, constant in supply, is upon the south lawn, and the purest White Sulphur just outside the grounds. The course of studies is thorough and solid. Retired, yet within easy reach of the city, it has, for young ladies, all the advantages and none of the drawbacks of the city schools. The Academy refers with confidence, for verification of its past efficiency, to its many finished graduates, and its pupils scattered throughout the South. Address

A SLAVE SINGING AT MIDNIGHT.

Loud he sang the psalm of David,
He, a Negro, and enslaved;
Sang of Israel's victory,
Sang of Zion, bright and free.

In that hour, when night is calmest,
Sang he from the Hebrew Psalmist,
In a voice so sweet and clear
That I could not choose but hear.

Songs of triumph and ascriptions,
Such as reached the swart Egyptians,
When upon the Red Sea coast
Perished Pharaoh and his host.

And the voice of his devotion
Filled my heart with strange emotion;
For its tones by turns were glad,
Sweetly solemn, wildly sad.

Paul and Silas in their prison,
Sang of Christ, the Lord arisen,
And an earthquake's arm of might
Broke their dungeon-gates at night.

But, alas! what holy angel
Brings the Slave this glad evangel?
And what earthquake's arm of might
Breaks his dungeon-gates at night?

—Longfellow—written in 1842.

This is the year of Jubilee!
We will sing the new song.
The Lord has set his people free!
We will sing the new song.

—Slave Song.

The South by electrifying industry is creating new investment values

The South is favored with cheap electricity in unlimited quantities. Stream and steam power vie with one another to pare American manufacturing costs.

Swiftly and surely industry is coming South . . . to lower costs and larger dividends. From hydro and steam plants, Southern utilities are already producing annually nearly 3,000,000,000 KWH of electric current.

In a single section of the South, new industries are now locating at the rate of one every four days. The whole South is gaining wealth and building investment values at a fast rate.

Caldwell & Company is a Southern investment organization, underwriting and distributing sound Southern securities. "Shares in The South, Inc." is an investment trust which will interest investors desiring to share in the South's diversified and steady progress. Write for details.
